NOTE: If your bubble panel is printed on translucent material, they have to be printed independently from the Mirage panels they sit next to, which are not translucent. Because translucent bubble panels use different media and different laminates, there is no way to guarantee color matching and visual alignment of art elements that are shared with the panels next to it.

If your bubble panel is printed on reflective material, we cannot guarantee visual alignment of the art elements that are shared with the panels next to it.

Backlit bubble panels are only available with fluorescent bulbs.
